Course Description:

Development of the theory of supply and demand and their interaction in a market economy. Classical, Keynesian, and monetarist explanations of inflation and unemployment are presented and analyzed. Emphasis is placed on income determination, fiscal policy, monetary policy, and the issue of government efforts to improve economic performance. Prerequisites: Qualifying math SAT/ACT score, qualifying score on the math placement test, or completion of MATH 102M or higher.

Course Learning Outcomes:

Simply stated, students should know more about economics and the economic way of thinking than when we started. Critical thinking is key in understanding economic concepts, I would like you to be able to interpret the cause and effect of policies when watching the news and reading about international events. Specifically:

1. Develop understanding of the functioning of the market economy and the role of government
2. Understand how the U.S. economy relates as part of the world economy
3. Develop skill for ordering and interpreting economic news in the media
4. Understand economic, business, and finance vocabularies
5. Understand the economic way of thinking (AKA, it's all economics!)

Global Perspectives:

In today's global economy, economic issues and policy are significantly influenced by international considerations. This course is designed to use global applications to illustrate basic concepts of macroeconomic theory. Due to the dynamic nature of global economic issues, topics covered will change periodically or even during the semester as newsworthy events occur relevant to the course.

Written and Oral Communication:

Writing assignments and problems will be assigned on a regular basis and reviewed in class as time permits. Students are expected to actively participate in classroom discussions. Issues raised/discussed by students may be based on their reading of the textbook or other materials relating to macroeconomic theory or policy or to current economic trends and events. Such economic issues are raised and discussed by the news media daily and may be relevant on the local, national or international level.

Computer Applications:

To reinforce and augment classroom learning, students will be expected to regularly use McGraw-Hill’s Connect website which features tutorials, interactive graphs, and links to related sites. The textbook is available there digitally and a print loose leaf version of the text is available for no additional cost at the bookstore. I expect you to complete the LearnSmart activities online as well as end of chapter homework questions which are administered via Connect and linked to the course material on blackboard.

Assessment Measures:

Midterm Exams 1/2/3	20%/15%/15% (50% of grade total)
Final Exam	30%
LearnSmart assignments	10%
Online homework assignments	10%
Total possible percentage:	100%

Extra credit: It can be earned by signing up for a Duolingo account and working on learning a language. Share your progress with me via one of these links. There are absolutely no other options for extra credit. If already have an account students can go to join.duolingo.com and use the classroom code to get set up. Spring 2018 code is: ZBJZYA and a direct link is <https://www.duolingo.com/o/zbjzya>. There is also a document on blackboard documenting exactly how to sign up.

It is your responsibility to sign up correctly. I will give extra points up to 2.5 percentage points to your final percentage score for those of you who participate daily earning 10 XP or more throughout the semester. The fraction of total days you participate out of the total available during the semester determines your amount, not total XP. You can follow me with my user name jaykody if you like, I am currently working on Spanish (regularly) and German (sporadically).

This is econ, why discuss speaking a second language?

The avenues for credit above will be the only way to earn points toward your final score. There will be no outside opportunities for extra credit or adjustments, please do not ask.

Make-up Exams: Make-up exams will not be offered for any reason. If you miss any mid-term exam the weight of that exam will be shifted to the final, making it worth more of your final score. If you miss a midterm, I will fill in that exam score with a zero for mid-term grade calculations until the final is taken.

Attendance Policy: There is no attendance policy in this course. I encourage you to come, you’re paying for it but I am realistic in my ability to “force” you to learn. You’ll have to find intrinsic motivation for the class just like in your own life.

Grading Policies and Procedures:

A: 93-100	C: 74-76
A-: 90-92	C-: 70-73
B+: 87-89.9	D+: 67-69.9
B:84-86	D: 60-66
B-: 80-83	F: Below 60.0
C+: 77-79.9

No late work is accepted for any reason. Homework and LearnSmart assignments must be completed by due dates shown in Connect unless specifically noted, these assignments allow for partial credit so do what you can even if you can't finish. I will separately drop the single lowest LearnSmart and homework scores, so any individual assignment won't make or break you.

Academic integrity:

Per Section IX of the ODU Policies and Procedures on Academic Integrity I do not tolerate academic dishonesty in this course and the following are prohibited.

1. Cheating: Using unauthorized assistance, materials, study aids, or other information in any academic exercise
2. Plagiarism: Using someone else's language, ideas, or other original material without acknowledging its source in any academic exercise.
3. Fabrication: Inventing, altering or falsifying any data, citation or information in any academic exercise.
4. Facilitation: Helping another student commit, or attempt to commit, any Academic Integrity violation, or failure to report suspected Academic Integrity violations to a faculty member.

If caught or detected, I will pursue the matter to the utmost degree. At minimum you will receive a zero on the assignment you are dishonest in completing and reported to the Office of Student Conduct and Academic Integrity to determine if more severe penalties are appropriate according to university policy.

Classroom rules of conduct:

1. Electronic devices must not be used in this class for any purpose other than numerical calculation, recording the lecture, or typing lecture notes (see ODU Code of College Classroom Conduct). This means no reading or writing e-mail, tweets, etc. and no website viewing, including social networking sites. It also means no texting. Simply stated, no cell phones or laptops should be out during class meetings.
2. Telephone ringers must be switched off during lectures and answering or placing calls in the classroom during lectures is absolutely prohibited.
3. If you arrive late or have to leave early sit in the back row.
4. Be respectful. I'm going to try to make this a fun class, I'm at least going to have fun anyway. Show up. Smile. Be polite. These things help in life too, I encourage them generally.

Violation of any the above rules may result in expulsion from the classroom.
